DEPARTURE OF A LIBERAL MEXICAN WAR VESSEL.

The new liberal Mexican sidewheel war steamer Gene port, no secreey having been made as to its object and destination. The McCullum is a small steamer of five hundred and fifty-six tons, is built of iron and carries a battery of six guns. She is considered a very fast vessel. On her trip down the bay she gave infinite satisfaction to all on board. She was fitted out under the direction of General Sturm, formerly chief ordnance officer of Indiana, who for some time past has been in the service of Juarez. The cargo of the vessel consists of ten thousand stand of small arms, two full batteries of light artitlery, with implements complete. After the vessel proceeded a short distance down the bay she was met by a vessel from which have received four tons of powder and a large quantity of fixed ammunition. The vessel was cleared by Allen & Latson, her nominal owners, who, with General Sturm, his private secretary. W. F. Stocking, his brother, Colonal E. A. Mejia and three other officers of the Mexican Army and W. C. Cars, late Deputy Collecter at New Orleans. Prior to the departure of the vessel a large party assembled at the foot of Dey street, where the vessel was moored, among whom was numerous gentlemen of Fenian proclivities. Among the large number of guntar nythed to accompany the vessel down the bay was General Mullen, ex-Secretary of War of the Fenian Brotherhood, whose presence gave rise to a rumor that the vessel is a Fenian privateer. On the way down the harbor General Sturm entermained the party at a granu quilation, during which toasts were
